Youth Track — Apologetics for Life (for Middle and High School Students)

Directed by the Students for Life

Are you scared to tell your friends that you are pro-life? Do you worry that you will not know how to answer their questions?

Students for Life representative Victoria Trujillo will teach students how to dialogue with people about the controversial topic of abortion in a way that changes hearts and minds. Participants will also be exposed to a fetal model display showing a child's development in the womb. The programming will be age appropriate for Middle and High School age students, and no graphic images will be shared.
